

SCI FI Stud #4 Tom Welling

Sci Fi "Stud" of the Week #4

This week's Sci Fi Stud of the

Week is: Tom Welling

"When you ask a woman a question, you want to hear what she really thinks about something, not necessarily what she thinks you want to hear." If you're looking for an all-American hunk, it's hard to beat Tom Welling, with his lustrous black hair and gorgeous blue eyes. After receiving so-so grades in high school, Tom decided to forego college and went into the construction industry. Lucky for him (and us!) a talent scout noticed him and signed him on as an underwear model for Calvin Klein. Even though he got to travel the world, he was unfulfilled until he got into acting. Though he's been in several movies, including The Fog and Cheaper by the Dozen, he's most well known for playing a hot young Clark Kent in the long-running series, Smallville. Not only does he play the young Superman - he once acted like him in real life when he fought off several muggers who were attacking a woman right in front of him. And I'm sorry to crush your hopes, ladies, but he's been happily married for several years now. .

Click here for more information on Tom!